(Pasadena, October 29, 2018) A Noise Within (ANW), the acclaimed classical repertory theatre company, continues the cherished holiday tradition of presenting its well-loved production of Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol this year, onstage for the seventh holiday season. This time-honored tale of forgiveness plays 17 performances only, Saturday, December 1 through Sunday, December 23, 2018. After the show, audience members are invited to enjoy a cup of cider and take photos with the cast.

This season, ANW is expanding the opportunities for members of the community to enjoy classical theatre by offering a Relaxed Performance of A Christmas Carol on Saturday, December 8 at 11am. Relaxed Performances provide an inviting environment for those living with Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD), Developmental Delay, Neuromuscular Disorder, Sensory Integrative Dysfunction, Attention Deficit Disorder and Disorders of Social Interaction and Communication. And all the production quality audiences expect from A Noise Within is still in place, with light and sound levels adjusted to create a sensory-friendly environment for all attending. A Noise Within is partnering with Ivor Weiner, Professor of Special Education at California State University Northridge, to ensure best practices for our Relaxed Performances.

Co-Producing Artistic Director Geoff Elliott, who adapted the play from the novella, will co-direct with Julia Rodriguez-Elliott this masterpiece about the redemptive and transformative power of love. In this production, hailed as "enchantment" by LA Weekly, Dickens' poignant tale is matched by evocative original music by composer Ego Plum.

"We thought that this would be the best play for us to introduce our Relaxed Performances to our public, welcoming new audience members and their families into our live performance experience. Annually remounting our acclaimed presentation of Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol allows families to once again take a supremely theatrical journey and celebrate the transformative power of forgiveness during the holidays," says Elliott. Julia Rodriguez-Elliott adds, "Ebenezer Scrooge's rebirth from miserly curmudgeon to the epitome of love and generosity affirms our faith in the potent goodness of humanity during this beloved time of year."

The Los Angeles Times has named A Christmas Carol a Critic's Choice. "GO! Magic as soon as the lights come up!" says LA Weekly. "Beautifully appointed ... a timeless holiday staple," says Backstage, "Fresh and whimsical ... dazzling" says Onstage Los Angeles, and "A lush retelling" says Glendale News-Press.

More About Relaxed Performances

At a relaxed performance, the play will be edited down to 45 to 60 minutes in length, and lights and sound are reduced to make a welcoming environment for those who are distracted or upset by startling sounds or light changes. The house lights stay on during the performance, to ensure a safe environment for the audience and allow for easy movement around the theatre. Other aspects include:

- No strobe or sudden light effects are used.
- Patrons can talk and move around the theater as much as they wish during the performance.
- The use of mobile electronic devices is allowed during the performance.
- Designated activity/relaxation spaces will be available for those who need a break from the performance.
- Trained staff is available to assist all patrons throughout the event.

Dr. Ivor Weiner's research focuses on autism, including social skills for individuals with autism, screenings and barriers faced by Latina mothers when accessing services for their children with autism. His research led to a $50,000 CVS Care Foundation award to purchase a mobile autism screening van to address the disparities in services for Latino families.

Anyone in the community is open to attend our fully-inclusive experience for A Christmas Carol with the understanding that this performance is “Hush-Free,” and that there will be a certain level of sound and movement throughout the show. ### 2018-2019 Season - *Let Me In

“All of our 2018-19 offerings feature characters who are outliers – people who have blazed their own trail but nevertheless struggle for acknowledgement and acceptance,” says Geoff Elliott. “Let Me In isn’t about a physical space, it’s about the deeply human passion to be understood for who we are.”

In the spring, Shakespeare’s intimate tragedy Othello (February 10 – April 28, 2019) plays in rotating repertory with Tennessee Williams’ haunting memory play The Glass Menagerie (February 24 – April 26, 2019) and Mary Zimmerman’s retelling of the classic Greek myth of The Voyage of Jason and the Argonauts in Argonautika (March 20 – May 5, 2019). Following the spring repertory season, the popular and acclaimed ANW production of Noises Off (May 21 – June 9, 2019) returns. KCET is a media sponsor for A Noise Within’s 2018-19 Season. A Noise Within’s repertory theatre season is presented by the S. Mark Taper Foundation.

Julia Rodriguez-Elliott says, “Whether they’re in self-exile, or shunned, or led astray by hedonistic desires, or thrust there by the fickle cruelty of fate or the gods, all of these characters on the margins of society are fascinating and deeply resonant with anyone who has ever felt left out.”
